Punchard's New Teacher-Coach Excelled In Studies And Sports

A young man now teaching physics and chemistry at Moses Brown school in Providence was given quite an important pair of shoes to fill by the Andover school committee Tuesday evening. They were the shoes filled for some 30 years by Gene Lovely who was recently elevated to the principalship of Punchard.

Anton Kishon should be able to fill those shoes. The school committee had a problem on its hands, for it had to elect not just a football coach but also a physics and chemistry teacher. That combination Gene Lovely had handled very successfully. To fill the vacancy the committee went back to the same college that Gene had come from, Bates, for there they seem to make a specialty of producing physics and chemistry teachers.

In Anton Kishon they found a man who had been an outstanding pupil at Worcester Academy and at Bates. He taught the two subjects for a year at Wilbraham Academy and for the past four years at Moses Brown. The committee had no doubt that he could handle that part of the job all right. The other question was his athletic ability.

Ten years ago next May 23 Phillips Academy faced Worcester Academy in track up here. A young man from Worcester took four first places, heaving the shot 48 feet 11 inches, the discus 131 feet, the javelin 148 feet 3 inches, and the hammer 157 feet 7 inches. A year later Andover won the Harvard Interscholastics at Cambridge, and that same young man won four more first places: shot put, 51 feet 9½ inches; javelin, 170 feet 11½ inches; hammer, 170 feet 5¾ inches; discus, 139 feet 5¼ inches.

The young track star's name was Anton Kishon. Weight events were not his only forte, however, because he excelled in many other sports, especially football. He went on to Bates and made a name for himself there, winning the Olympic hammer throw while in school. He has been assistant football coach both at Wilbraham and at Moses Brown. Next fall he starts off at a terrific disadvantage, because football material at Punchard is not very promising. The six foot three inch teacher-coach is highly recommended by the president of Bates and the headmasters of Worcester, Moses Brown and Wilbraham.

Need Volunteers To Sew For Red Cross

The Andover chapter of the American Red Cross issues an urgent appeal for volunteer workers to sew and knit garments for war refugees. Last winter the needs were great—today they are much greater.

The new quota for Andover will show clearly the imperative necessity for diligent effort on the part of all who possibly can assist in any way to accomplish this tremendous task: 150 men's sweaters, 300 women's sweaters, 750 children's sweaters, 160 children's knitted suits, 165 convalescent robes, 300 hospital pajamas, 100 layettes, 36 women's cotton dresses, 160 girls' cotton dresses, 185 women's woolen skirts, 250 girls' woolen skirts, 75 women's woolen dresses, 330 girls' woolen dresses, 160 boys' shirts, 100 boys' overalls, 120 toddler packs (each containing 1 sweater, 1 pair mittens, 2 pair rompers, 1 beanie cap, 1 woolen snow suit, 2 undershirts, 2 sleeping garments, 10 diapers), 200 bibs.

Afghans (made of small bits of left-over yarn), shawls, caps, mufflers, children's stockings and men's socks are also needed.

Sewing meetings are held every Tuesday all day in Punched High School. Material for knitting or sewing may be obtained there or from Miss Anna Kuhn, 48 Central street, telephone 46.

Need Guns, Helmets For British Homes

The American Committee for Defense of British Homes is making an appeal to Andover residents through L. Denis Peterkin of the Academy faculty, for pistols, revolvers, steel helmets and a number of other similar items in order to "put a gun in the hands of every unarmed British civilian to defend his home."

England is still apprehensive of general invasion, and there have been many tales of Nazi aviators bailing out of disabled planes and doing considerable damage before they were finally rounded up. It is felt that if every civilian had arms of some sort, it would be a comparatively easy matter to handle this threat.

All sorts of rifles, shot guns, pistols and revolvers, all types of ammunition except soft point or dum-dum, binoculars, steel helmets (for protection against shell fragments) can all be used by Englishmen to defend their homes. Anyone having anything of this nature is urged to leave it at the Andover National Bank, or at Mr. Peterkin's, 25 Hidden road; the name and address of the owner should be included.

Rain Cuts Down Firemen's Work

Rain managed to cut down the firemen's work this week, but there were more than the average number of fires. On Sunday at 5:12 a.m., box 461 sounded for a blaze in the garage loft of John Avery on Morton street. A brooder stove caused the trouble.

On Tuesday morning box 552 sounded at 9:22 when an inspector at work at the Dundee house failed to cut the alarm during his inspection. It rang and he cut it after one round. Later the alarm had to be finished out to complete the circuit.

Brush fires during the week were: Monday, box 4, 10:55 p.m., brush, rear of Scanlon's Inn, North Main street; Tuesday, 9:45 a.m., brush, Ferndale avenue; still, 12:03 a.m., grass, 56 Bartlet street, land of Bridget Hurley; Wednesday, box 4, 11:00 a.m., brush at public dump.

Forbid Smoking At Memorial Auditorium

Smoking in the Memorial auditorium already legally taboo is to be enforcedly taboo hereafter. There have been many complaints in the past about smoking behind the stage, particularly during rehearsals. The superintendent was instructed to advise all groups that they must conform to this rule, and the police will be asked to enforce it strictly. Especially when there is scenery around, it is felt that smoking is dangerous. Smoking is allowed only in the cafeteria corridor.

BREAKS AT FOSTER'S

Two breaks at neighboring Foster's pond camps were reported to police this week. Fred Kuehner and Annie M. Brown reported at different times that their camps had been entered and some phonograph records broken in both. Other damage was done and an Aladdin's lamp was stolen from the Brown cottage.

★★EDITORIAL★★

Bombed Or Starved?

A few short weeks ago, a very few, the United States and Great Britain promised all manner of aid to Yugoslavia and Greece at the moment when it appeared as if the two countries would be invaded by Nazi Germany. This week-end it was reported that 26 boatloads of military materials for aid of these two countries had arrived at the Suez canal, but it was too late. Those two brave countries had put up a game fight, relying partly on us, and today their people are conquered, facing the same threat of starvation that the other conquered democracies have been going through for the past year.

What are we going to do now? Do we and Great Britain say to these heroic nations: "We'll give you things to fight with, but if you are defeated because we couldn't live up to your hopes and your needs, we're through with you. We don't care if you starve." Andover's clergymen and most of Andover's people can't see it that way. Right is going to win this war, and letting people starve is not right. The Andover association of Congregational Churches and Ministers has endorsed President Hoover's plan to feed the small democracies, and anybody with any feeling for humanity must agree. We hate to think of non-combatant civilians being bombed, we feel that's inhumane, but isn't it just as bad to starve them? If you were given your choice of being killed instantly by a bomb, or of slowly starving to death, of succumbing to the ravages of disease, which would you choose?

Persons who want Great Britain to win, persons who want the United States to send every possible military aid abroad still feel that the Hoover plan can be worked without giving aid to Germany; it worked in the last war, and it can in this. When it's all over, the United States and Great Britain will have earned far more respect from these European countries than if they pursued a policy of neglecting starving people.

Adventurers Score Another Success

Those who anticipated a rollicking comedy in the Adventurers' annual play Monday night would have been disappointed in the production of "Brief Candle" if the cast had been an ordinary cast. A small-town dramatic group with the usual run-of-the-mill amateurs would shy away from a story like "Brief Candle," for it is too difficult for the average cast to handle. Its lack of action makes its interpretation very important; without action the players had to convey to the audience a feeling, and that they did very successfully. Its tender moments, its whimsical moments, its final scene in which Natica found her hope realized and died with that hope realized even if actually it could not be—the Adventurers lost none of them. A play that was worth a lot they played for all it was worth.

No ordinary small-town group would choose a play in which one of the principals passes away at the end. That is the height of drama, and it's a hard height to reach successfully. Largely through the character-acting of Mildred Eaton the Adventurers met the situation as it should have been met, for Mrs. Eaton "crossed the bar" just as you imagined old Natica Turner would have.

If any role in the play needed careful handling, it was Natica's. Through two entire scenes all Natica did was stay in one spot, and so through her voice, and through her facial expression, she portrayed Natica just as you know Natica must have been, lovable, kind, devoted to her people and her past.

Dan MacDonnell has been receiving a good deal of praise since the performance, and he deserves it. As the faithful old butler, he was superb—in some spots you would have sworn, both from his voice and his mannerisms, that it was Lionel Barrymore up there on the stage—and you'll have to admit, Lionel is hard to beat. His general atmosphere contributed to the general atmosphere of the whole play. Harry Emmons, too, seemed to fit in to the part very well—Harry always does. As Admiral Standish, another Standish who didn't speak for himself and didn't even send anybody to speak for him, he portrayed excellently the aged man who learns too late, much too late, that he should not have continued a bachelor.

Steve Whitney and Grace Morin played the younger leads, both adding to the charm of the play with their idealistic romance that could come to nothing. Steve's playing has been seen before, and he lived up to expectations. Miss Morin is new to Andover audiences, and she seemed well-chosen for the part of the youngish girl who found her dream garden and her dream lover too late.

And then there was Klatz, boat-swain's mate, U. S. N., who added the hilarious touch to the play with his exaggerated air of a goby who in every port finds some girl to remind him of his mother. Harry Emmons' brother Cliff swaggered through this part, and in the second scene especially his work was something to be remembered.

Minor players don't have much occasion to do much, but if they flop, it doesn't help the play any. Neither Betty Carmichael as Sarah nor Francis Rodericks as Gordon came anywhere near flopping; though they had small parts, they did them well.

for its success entirely on the acting. Today many people from past experience look to every Adventurers' production for what they know will be an excellent job of scenery work. Miss Turner's old room and the beautiful garden brought spontaneous applause from the audience, which must have made the stage crew feel rewarded for their long hours of work. In the group were Cliff Emmons again, Geoff Nicoll, Roland Fraser, John Brown, Bertil Ryberg, Walter Rankin, Bill Hughes, Agnes Dugan and Isabelle Fenner. The lighting was handled by Bill Edwards, Sumner Davis and Daniel Tower.

Marjorie Edwards directed the play, assisted by Thisbe Grieco. The success of the production spoke well for their efforts.

GOOD STEER BEEF IS THE BEST BUY THIS WEEK

Remember, it is not the price per pound that you pay for the cut of meat you buy that determines its cost to you. It is the amount of good, tender, eatable meat which you get for your money that determines its real cost. For example, our Pot Roasts are priced at 29c, 35c and 38c a pound. Every bone, every sinew, and all surplus fat is removed. There is absolutely no waste. You can eat every ounce. The chain store markets price these same cuts at two to three cents less, but what a difference there is in the quality and preparation.

WHERE TO GO WHAT TO DO

MAY 8—"Everyday Life In India," Subject

Tonight in George Washington Hall at 8 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Ramkrishna S. Modak from Ahmednagar, South India, will give a portrayal of "Everyday Life in India." Mr. Modak, a prominent citizen of India, was a member of the Bombay Legislative Council for six years, a special Honorary Magistrate for eight years, and Pastor of the First Church for sixteen years. His wife is a graduate of Columbia University and has had a long career of educational and missionary work in both United States and India.

Mr. Modak will give a detailed demonstration of how the Indians of various castes wear their turbans, how the special ways of wearing a scarf indicates the profession of the wearer and how the Indian can convert a large piece of rectangular cloth into a pair of very serviceable trousers with only a few dexterous folds.

Mrs. Modak who will be attired in a graceful garment known as a sari, will demonstrate the typical routine of one of the millions of Indian housewives. Her demonstration will include the lighting of and caring for oil lamps, what the gossip is about at the well, and will prepare—in pantomime—a typical Hindu meal consisting of rice, spiced yellow split peas, green vegetables, melted butter, fruit and pastry, allowing for the little bit which must be set aside for the Spirits. The husband always eats first, but if he is pleased with his wife he will leave a little tidbit on his tray as a treat for his lady. Very large households are the rule in India, and if it is noticed that nothing is left on the plate by the husband, then it is quite obvious that something is definitely wrong between him and his wife.

As a part of their demonstration equipment the Modaks will bring with them a large variety of picturesque Indian cooking utensils, costumes, rugs, etc. They will discuss Indian religions and social customs, following which, the audience is requested to ask questions about anything which they do not understand about the various customs.

After the lecture there will be a large display of Indian brassware, fabrics and miscellaneous articles. There will be no admission charge.

MAY 8—Coiffures, Styles and Cosmetics To Be Demonstrated

Styles, coiffures and cosmetics will be the interesting topic at the meeting of the Junior Woman's Union this evening. Styles will be discussed by Miss Evelyn Dow, a student at the Chamberlain School of Boston, and she will be assisted by Mrs. John Gorrie, a former student at the same school.

This show will begin at 8 o'clock and will be in charge of the following hostesses: Mrs. Carl Shulze, Mrs. Renwyck Henderson and Mrs. Grant Silva.

MAY 9—Monologist and Girls' Band Featured

The joint Service Clubs—the Andover Service Club and the Puncard Service Club—are sponsoring a night of entertainment and dancing as a means of raising money for their scholarship fund. The program arranged will include Betty Manning, well-known and very accomplished monologist, and the Puncard High School All Girls' band. The latter, as you all know, has been organized not quite two years yet, but has come a long way in both musical accomplishments and winning the recognition of Andover and many surrounding communities. Those of you who have not already heard them should really plan to attend, and you who have heard them, I'm sure will postpone anything else for that night and go to the Memorial Auditorium tomorrow night at 8 o'clock for an encore of the progress.

Tickets for this evening of pleasure are only 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students. Don't forget, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Memorial Auditorium.

Add to Service Club Entertainment Miss Manning's monologues will be divided into two groups. The first will include "Dressing Up Elmer," "Dime Store Delia" and "The Irish Girl and the Telephone." Her second group will consist of "Self-Control," "Aunt Effie on Horseback," and "Speak Up Ike and 'Spreess Yourself."

MAY 9—Fashion Show By King's Daughters

If you had been at Cherry & Webb's Lawrence store yesterday afternoon you would have had a preview of what you're going to see tomorrow afternoon at the Junior King's Daughters fashion show which will be held at 3:30 in the South church vestry. Miss Virginia Magoon tried out a number of the latest fashion creations on the young models. Spectator sportswear, afternoon wear, beachwear, in fact everywear were tried and indications are that you certainly will not be wasting your time by attending this show.

The talk will start at 8:15. Mr. Thomas recently published "America Has a Future," and the larger aspects of his subject will be considered in his talk.

The importance of the subject and the importance of the speaker both deserve a large audience.

MAY 14—Exhibit Of Central Schools

Next Wednesday there's to be something new in the way of school exhibits here in Andover. Before this time, most of the exhibits dealt with such things as manual training, physical education, etc. Next Wednesday's exhibit in the Memorial gymnasium will give a cross-section of school life; in addition to the practical arts and the fine arts work, it will portray the academic side of the curriculum in the central schools, grammar as well as junior and senior highs. There will be a demonstration of the teaching aids that are used also.

The exhibit, which is being held in conjunction with the P. T. A. meeting will be held both afternoon and evening. The public will be most welcome.

MAY 15—Saving Beauty Spots From Cape Cod To The Berkshires

The Andover Village Improvement Society will present Laurence B. Fletcher and his new and beautifully colored motion picture of some of the beauty spots from the Cape to the Berkshires on next Thursday evening, May 15, at 8 o'clock, in the Memorial Hall Library. Mr. Fletcher will accompany his film by informal running comments and practical suggestions about the development of public reservations.

Although there is no charge for tickets, they should be secured in advance as there is only a limited number. For tickets, apply to Miss Putnam at the Memorial Library.

MAY 15-16—Two Day Rummage Sale

The Woman's Union of the West Church will hold a Rummage Sale Thursday and Friday, May 15 and 16, on Common street, Lawrence. But it will be held at the academy on the evening of May 19th, and whoever the speakers are they'll be worth listening to.

MAY 19—Elocution Program At Auditorium

Truckers, farmers, aviators, traffic officers, butchers will all be seen at the Memorial Auditorium on Monday evening, May 19. No, it's not a convention; it's the annual elocution program of Miss Natoli's students of St. Augustine's school.

The program will include several different and delightful little themes. In one the advantages of co-operation are shown when children in one group sell lemonade and in another group cakes and candies; not until they stop working against each other and start co-operating do they really embark on the road to success.

Another feature planned is a daisy chain dance. In still another Maribeth Walsh will recite a piece. In the St. Patrick's program Maribeth recited "The Rosary and the Trimmings," and was very well received.

MAY 20—Banquet And Entertainment

The community association of Ballardvale is making plans for a community banquet to be held in their room on May 20. A catered supper will be served, and it is hoped that everyone will try to attend. William Riley is general chairman of the affair and is being assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bell, Jack Haggerty, Mrs. Robert Mitchell, Mrs. Lakin, and all store owners are aiding in the selling of tickets. There will also be entertainment to be announced later.

MAY 21—All Around Entertainers To Come Here

The Free Church Sunday school has secured the services of The Liberal Arts Club of Boston to entertain at a concert which they will

MAY 22—Card Party At Country Club

It's going to be worth your while to save the evening of the 22nd for the St. Augustine's card party to be held at the Country Club. Already there have been a great many prizes promised, and the chances are pretty good that you'll come home with something that night. You've got one chance in four anyway of winning your table prize, and then there are many other specials, including coal and oil from four different merchants.

But even if you don't win a prize, you'll have an evening's enjoyment playing cards, eating refreshments and listening to the Andover Ma'e choir which again this year has graciously consented to sing at the party.

MAY 24—Spring Lawn Party and Silver Tea

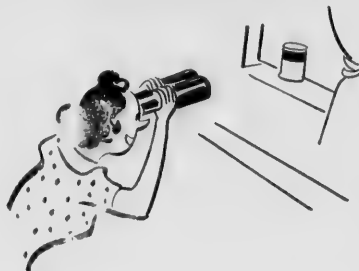

The Andover Historical Society spring lawn party and silver tea which takes place Saturday, May 24, from 2:30 to 5 o'clock at 97 Main street, will be open to everyone interested as well as to members of the society. The afternoon program will begin at 3 o'clock, after which refreshments will be served by Mrs. William A. Trow and Mrs. Nathaniel Stowers.

Among recent acquisitions which will be on exhibition are: an oil painting of the home of Rufus F. Caldwell, the gift of his daughter-in-law, the late Mrs. George R. Caldwell, formerly of Andover; the

DISTRICT ATTORNEY SPEAKS AT BREAKFAST

The annual Holy Name Society Communion breakfast was held at the parochial school hall on Sunday morning, with a large group of men attending following their reception of communion in a body at the 8:30 mass. The guest speaker was Hugh A. Cregg, who spoke of some of the phases of his work as district attorney. Father Austin also spoke.

Augustine P. Sullivan was toastmaster. James Sheard sang "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen,"
with William Burbine at the piano.

FATHER AUSTIN'S TERM EXPIRING

The term of Rev. Thomas B. Austin, O. S. A., as pastor of St.
Augustine's Church, will expire in June, when the new provincial of the order will be elected at Villanova. However, Father Austin is eligible for another term, and the chances are that he will return here. In his years here he has done a great deal of work in bringing the various buildings and grounds of the church into proper physical condition.

OFFICERS ELECTED AT SORORITY MEETING

At a recent meeting of the Sorority of Our Lady of St. Augustine's parish, the following officers were elected for the coming year:

Mothers' Sunday

A sermonette by Rev. Cornelis Heyn, North Parish Church

In the familiar story of Mary and Martha we are told that Mary chose the good part, for she was doing the one thing needful: she was learning, she was preparing her soul, she was interested in the great message,
she looked forward to the end to come. Martha, however, although she also may have believed, could not shake the responsibility of immediate things.
The world might come to an end, but even then she wanted to know that her house was clean and the beds made and everything in order. She also liked to listen and hear Jesus speak, but in her duties as hostess she felt that her guest must be fed and looked after. "It is all right to sit around and listen to these great things," you can hear her mumble, "but first let us get the dinner started and eaten and the dishes washed and everything out of the way, and then we can feel free and take the afternoon off."

Now here we have in simple outline a picture of the world for ages past. There have been the Marys and the Marthas—
with the Marthas immensely

more numerous than the Marys
—and there have been the sons of Mary and the sons of Martha.
Also, it is natural that the Mar-thas must work so that the Marys may flourish. Think of the amount of loyalty and sacrifice and anxiety and taking thought that has gone into the building of our race. Behind almost every one of us there was a mother who never thought of herself except in connection with her husband and children.
No labor was too hard for her,
no hours were too long, and even when she was sick and could hardly drag herself along she would be up and doing because—well, what would happen if she gave in?

So, let us give the Marthas their due. The mothers who give us birth, the Marthas who slave for us, the nurses who protect us in our tender years,
the teachers who enlighten us,
until we have grown to man's estate and we go out into the men's world and forget about them; they are all the same persons. Blessed are they, forever blessed.

more room than in any other low-price car!

You learn still more about "VALUE" when you discover the Ford gives you more than 30 major features available in no other low-price car!

Try the car, examine the facts, and the truth of this statement is clear: The 1941 Ford OUT-RIDES, OUTMEASURES, OUT-VALUES any other car near the Ford price—bar none!
